West Valley City Elected Officials, Administrators and Community Leaders Show Support for Military Service Members With Community Covenant

West Valley City – During the Council meeting on Tuesday, June 26, at 6:30 p.m., West Valley City Mayor Mike Winder and the City Council will present the West Valley City Community Covenant to the Utah National Guard. Signed by elected officials, administrators, employees and community leaders, the West Valley City Community Covenant reaffirms the city's long-standing commitment to support military service-members and their families.

By participating in the Community Covenant program, West Valley City recognizes:

- The commitment and sacrifice that men and women in uniform and their families make for us each and every day.
- That service members find strength through their families, and their families find strength through the community in which they are a part.
- The strength of the community comes from each individual in it.
- That all individuals in the community have the ability to make a difference.

Additionally, West Valley City will commit to:

- Build partnerships that support the strength, resilience and readiness of service members and their families.
- Go above and beyond our normal call of duty to support and recognize the military families in our community.
- Ensure that the needs of military families are met, especially in times of deployment.
- Remember our service men and women and the sacrifices they make for our freedom.

Signed copies of the West Valley City Community Covenant will be displayed at Utah National Guard offices and at West Valley City Hall.
